Marine is pleased to present its third show, Salon No. 3, Works 066–091. Purposely eschewing a curatorial theme, each show is a considered showcase of works that are meant to be viewed as a coherent personal collection. While retaining a consistent aesthetic across all shows, each salon explores the idea of a fictitious collector with a different vision or focus. Salon No. 3, Works 066 - 091 explores the idea of a collector with an eye for phantasmagoria, melancholy and devastation. Marine is committed to showing artists in all stages of their career in the same setting.

Salon No. 3, Works 066–091 presents the work of M.B. Boissonnault, Joshua Callaghan, Cindy Cheng, Sean Higgins, Tom Hunter, Dana Louise Kirkpatrick, Peter Lograsso, Michael McConnell and Debra Scacco.

Salon No.3, Works 066 - 091 includes the work of renowned U.K. artist Tom Hunter, who was the first photographer to have an exhibition at the National Gallery in England. This will be the first show of his work in Los Angeles since 2000. His work is held in several notable public collections including LACMA and he has had numerous shows at galleries and museums including White Cube, The Saatchi Gallery, Museum of Contemporary Art Chicago and Tate Britain.

About Marine

Marine is an art salon based in Santa Monica, California that represents international contemporary artists. Evoking the elegance of salons past, Marine reconsiders and reinterprets the idea of the salon through an ongoing program of group exhibitions by artists whose work is concept-led and vital. Marine was founded by curator Claessinka Anderson in the hope of creating a welcoming space for thought, engagement and interaction with contemporary art, away from the gallery setting. Marine opened its doors to a private audience on July 11, 2009, with subsequent Salons occurring bi-monthly.

Marine is open by appointment and located at 716 Marine Street, Santa Monica 90405. Parking is on the street, with complimentary valet service available for opening receptions.
